

Studying abroad - what do you need to know?

International Day FAU
5. November 2024

As a student, how am I insured for my studies abroad?

Are you enrolled at FAU and want to go abroad for one or more semesters?

Your insurance will remain in Germany during this time.

non-contributory dependants' insurance in the statutory health insurance for students up to their 25th birthday

The non-contributory dependants' insurance remains free of charge during the semester abroad

Student health insurance with a statutory health insurance company

The insurance remains and the contributions must also be paid for the semester(s) abroad.

Private insurance during your studies

In principle, the private insurance contract continues to run during the semester abroad. Please inquire with your private health insurance company about international insurance for your semester abroad.

I have to go to the doctor abroad - what do I have to do?

2.

In Europe and the agreement states

The European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) is accepted in all EU countries, agreement states, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

With the EHIC you get all medically necessary services as if you were insured there.

So sieht die Europäische Krankenversichertenkarte aus:

Auf der Rückseite Ihrer TK-Gesundheitskarte befindet sich die Europäische Krankenversicherungskarte (EHIC).

Statutory co-payments abroad

If co-payments are incurred abroad, e.g. for medication, these may not be reimbursed by the statutory health insurance in Germany.

Payments in the event of illness

In individual cases, it may happen that services abroad are not billed directly via the EHIC.

The invoices can be submitted to the health insurance company in Germany. This examines the assumption of costs.

Other countries

You have no insurance with the EHIC

Have to have a travel insurance for example for 1,50 € per day

For a longer stay in which a visa has to be applied for or extended, please inquire in advance at the host university or the embassy whether the private travel insurance is recognized for the visa process.

If you have any questions ...

... feel free to contact me.

Andres Schaller

Techniker Krankenkasse

Tel. 01 51 - 12 65 91 38

Andreas.Schaller@tk.de